

Mohammad H. Refaat graduated from the faculty of Urban & Regional planning Cairo University (Hons 1989). He was appointed as a teaching assistant and later was awarded a Chevening scholarship to obtain his PhD in Landscape Architecture from Edinburgh University, UK (1995) with a thesis on "The Egyptian Landscape and Tourism a Study of the Red Sea Coast Landscape Planning Process".

From 1995 till 2014 he acted as an assistant and associate professor and then the chair Professor of Landscape Architecture at Cairo University teaching and conducting the Landscape Planning, Landscape Architecture, Urban Landscape and Sustainable Landscape ecology courses on both levels under and post graduate.

He became the Dean Of the Faculty of Urban & Regional Planning in 2023. At Present he is the Vice President of Cairo University for Community service and Environmental development. His research interests include landscape planning, landscape design, sustainable tourism, urban parks and eco-parks, waterfronts cultural landscapes. He has published several papers in the International Journal of Development and Sustainability, the International Journal of education & Research, Journal of Urban Research. In addition to academia, he is the founder of the Landscape architecture and planning firm NATURE since 2005. He designed and supervised several landscape planning & design projects in Egypt and the Middle East, (in cooperation with several international firms such as HOK, WAG, 360 and Edge), some of these projects are the city of Khartoum Sudan, Water front landscape, the Olympic City in Basra, Iraq, the water front development of Aseer, KSA, Abha, Tabouk, Najran, KSA Airports, Salalah at Oman, Halab, Syria. Domestically, he designed several tourist resorts along the Red Sea coast as well as some public parks, clubs, residential compounds, streetscapes in Cairo. Also, he has worked as a consultant for the World Bank (Cairo, Egypt) in the Red Sea Sustainable Tourism Projects, and the Tourism development Authority (TDA), the Global Environmental Fund (GEF), and The Ministry of Environmental Affairs (EEAA).